THE PENALTY

Committee of Tobacco Association Makes a Public Report

That all persons might know the truth regarding the pooling of crops grown by farmers a committee of the Calloway branch of the tobacco association was appointed at a recent meeting of that body to investigate the matter and give to the public the result of their findings. The committee has submitted the following:

The undersigned committee having been appointed by a regular meeting of the Calloway county committee of the Dark Tobacco Association assembled in the court house January 25th, 1909, to consult with County Attorney N. B. Barnett, and he advised as to the penal laws relative to members selling their pooled tobacco out of the association. We have been cited to the following law, Acts 1906, page 429, to-wit:

Such persons so entering into such agreement or contract as is set out in the foregoing sections are hereby permitted to select an agent or agents through or by or with whom said parties so entering into such agreement may classify, grade, store, hold, sell or dispose of said crop, or any of them, and said agent or agents shall have the right to take, receive, hold, store, classify, grade, sell or dispose of said crop so placed in said agreement, for the purpose of accomplishing the object of such combination or agreement between such principals, and contracts and agreements entered into by such agent or agents for the purpose of classifying, grading, storing, holding, selling or disposing of said crop so combined, united or pooled, either in parcel or as a whole, are hereby permitted, and shall not, because of any such combination or purpose of such original agreement of such principals so entering into said combination, or such agent or agents, be declaring illegal or invalid. All contracts heretofore made by any person or persons for the purposes set out in the foregoing sections are hereby declared valid if otherwise legally binding on the parties. To prevent any breach or violation of any contract made for the purposes set out in the foregoing sections a restraining order and writ of injunction may be issued by proper officer, as prescribed in the Civil Code of Practice.

For any breach or violation of any contract entered into for the purpose set out in the foregoing section, the injured party may recover the damages sustained by him by reason of such violation of such contract of the person violating the same, and also of any person who shall induce or persuade another to violate such contract, which damages shall include the reasonable expense and attorney's fees incurred by the injured party in prosecuting an action to recover damages, or to prevent a violation of such contract, if the party complaining shall succeed in doing so, which may be recovered in the same action or original proceeding. Said agent when so selected as herein provided shall have the right to sell said crop so pooled or combined, and it shall be unlawful for any owner of such crop to sell or dispose of same and for any person to knowingly purchase the same without the written consent of such agents, and upon conviction thereof he or they shall be fined in any sum or amount not exceeding $250 for each offense, to be fixed by the jury in their discretion.

We quote the above law hoping as a committee, that no member having pooled tobacco will sell without knowing the penalty therefore. We further hope that all members will feel to be and remain loyal to his brother farmer, and above all to his individual interest.

Falls Dead From Chair.

C. M. Rudd, who lives in Marshall county, was in the city Monday and related to a Messenger reporter the sudden death of his niece, Miss Sarah Bohannon, the beautiful daughter of Allen B. Bohannon, a prominent farmer living near Brewers Mill. The young lady was 20 years old. She was sitting in a chair by a stove when she suddenly fell over on her face a corpse. She had just eaten a hearty breakfast and walked to the chair. Just before she toppled over, and which were the last words she ever uttered, she said: "Mother, I ought not to grumble today after eating so much breakfast." It came so unexpectedly that her mother was frantic with grief for some time.

Miss Bohannon had been in feeble health for the past two months but her condition was not considered serious and hence her death was wholly unexpected.

Rev. Banks, of Oak Level, the presiding elder of that circuit, conducted the funeral services and the burial took place at the Perry graveyard. Mayfield Messenger.

Soldier Bails Death Plot.

It seemed to J. A. Stone, a civil war veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me, in spite of all remedies, for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 175 pounds." Amarillo, Tex., Feb. 4, 1909.

DEAR SIR:-

I have been thinking for some time I would like to write a line to my old Kentucky friends.

I once lived and practiced medicine in your midst. I often think of the dear good people back there. But I am so well pleased here in this great far west.

There are great opportunities here for the hustling wide awake young man, or woman.

We have a modern little city of 15,000 to 18,000 population, near the New Mexico line. Fine climate, altitude 3600ft., great place for Tubercular patients. We have quite a number who came here and got well. Malaria actually unknown. For Consumptives this altitude is better than Colorado or New Mexico; especially, for Kentucky and Tennessee people who live in low altitudes. The Colorado, or New Mexico, altitude of 4,000 or 5,000ft seems to affect the heart and nervous system. I find this to be an ideal place for lung and nervous troubles.

We have good schools, churches, etc.

We have four railroads, five banks, a packing house under course of construction, and a number of new enterprises.

The agricultural developments are great. The farmers are coming in fast and buying this land at from $10.00 to $25.00 per acre. Fine water, excellent seasons, good people, lots of Kentucky and Tennessee people here.

We have quite a number of West Kentucky boys here. All doing well. Old Kentucky has a warm spot in my heart, but I am awfully smitten with this great new country.

I want you to send me your paper, for it is a message from home, and I love to hear of the progress and prosperity of old Kentucky's sons and daughters.

"Your only hope," said three doctors to Mrs. M. E. Fisher, Detroit, Mich. suffering from severe rectal trouble, lies in an operation. "then I used Dr. King's New Life Pills," she writes, "and I was wholly cured." They prevent Appendicitis, cure Constipation, Headache, etc. at H. D. Thornton & Co.

Curtis Moore is right sick at this writing.

Miss Florence McCarty is getting along fine with her school at Center Grove.

Mrs. Talley is improving nicely.

Mrs. Ferguson was able to go to church Sunday and went home with her daughter, Mrs. Crisp.

Curt McDaniel has moved to his new home.

Look for the mumps, some of the people have got them in Vandevan neighborhood.

They are having a nice Sunday school at Bethel church.

Court of Appeals Declares Judge Cook's Instructions Above Criticism.

That the citizens of Calloway county might be correctly informed regarding the decision of the court of appeals in passing upon instructions given by Judge Cook in the Calloway circuit court in the Jake Ellis trial, we print following a brief account of the higher court's opinion as sent out in a special from Frankfort:

"The law in the noted night rider case of the commonwealth against Jake Ellis, of Calloway county, was certified to by the court of appeals in an opinion by Judge Barker. The appellate court says that the instructions of the lower court are above criticism, and the only suggestion made is that the court explain to the jury in a retrial of the case that Ellis may be convicted on instructions two and three which deal with the conspiracy, and the whipping of Mose Thornton. The appellate court holds that the trial court was correct in not admitting any declarations or evidence that is hearsay, and that in the trial of the case the lower court was right in excluding all testimony regarding illegal and wrongful acts done subsequent to the outrage perpetrated on Mose Thornton, and as the indictment limits the charge to this one act, in this trial only evidence should be introduced on this one act.

"The notes that were taken off of Jake Ellis in jail while he was writing to friends endeavoring to establish an alibi should be admitted as competent evidence says the appellate court. There was a mistrial of this case, and there was so much evidence on each side that was objected to that it was decided to have the law certified to before another trial was entered into. The certification of the law by the court of appeals, however, is a victory for the defendants. In the brief of the attorney general, it was stated that unless the evidence of other outrages was admitted, it is impossible to convict the men. It may be that there will not be any more trials of this case or cases like it, for there are hundreds of indictments pending in counties in western Kentucky that will now be tried or they will be filed away as the result of the certification of the law handed down yesterday."

C. R. Kluger, the Jeweler, 1009 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind. writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." Sold by all druggists.

EXPLOSION DROVE SICK INTO STREET

EXPOSURE HAS SERIOUS EFFECT ON MANY FEVER PATIENTS.

YOUNG GIRL'S CORPSE SAVED

Father Carries the Body of His Daughter Wrapped in Blanket—Black Hand Plot Blamed.

New York, Feb. 7.—A bomb explosion which drove a score of scarlet fever patients out into the street, wrecked the entire front of a five-story tenement in East Seventy-fifth street early today.

Almost every apartment in the building had been under quarantine for some time and when the bomb lot go every person in the place made a wild rush for the street down the wrecked stairways. One man whose little girl had died during the night, carried the body wrapped in a blanket to the street.

The bomb was placed in the vestibule of the grocery of Giuseppe Pavo, located on the ground floor. Just before the explosion a policeman saw the spitting fuse and started to ward it to extinguish the spark. The fuse flashed up and as the policeman backed away the bomb exploded. While the front of the building was blown in and windows broken throughout the block, no one was injured.

The police are of the opinion that the explosion was a black hand demonstration against Pavalacci, the grocer, although he denies that he ever received any black hand threats.

The exposure following the explosion has had a serious effect on many of the sick persons who were driven from the house.

BRIEF TELEGRAPH MENTION

News has been received at Mare Island navy yard that as soon as the Atlantic battleship fleet reaches Hampton Roads the battleships Montana, Mississippi, Idaho and New Hampshire will sail for the Pacific. Several other battleships are also scheduled to start for the Pacific coast soon. It is said this change of plan is the result of pressure of business interests in the west for a more representative fleet in the Pacific.

The projectiles were targeted with light tracers and the target which was to be hit by 24 feet, well illuminated by searchlights.

VETO ON CENSUS TO STOP SPOILS

HOUSE EXPECTED TO PASS BILL OVER PRESIDENT'S HEAD, EMPLOYING 3,000.

ROOSEVELT HAS FEAR OF FRAUD

Message Gives Proposed Noncompetitive Examinations as Reason for Disapproval by Chief Executive.

Washington, Feb. 7.—President Roosevelt late Friday sent to the house a special message vetoing the bill which provides for the taking of the 12th and subsequent decennial census. The bill provides for the employment of about 3,000 employees, who would not have been appointed under the civil service rules.

This is the main reason the president gives for his disapproval of the bill.

It is thought likely that the house will pass the bill over the veto as every representative, under the bill, would be able to provide for some constituents, and many representatives consider the opportunity a good one for addressing a rebuke to the president, by overruling one of his vetoes.

Reasons for Veto.

The principal reason given by the president for his disapproval of the bill is:

"To provide that the clerks and other employees shall be appointed after non-competitive examination and without regard to political party affiliations, means merely that the appointments shall be treated as the prerogatives of the politicians of both parties instead of as one party."

"I don't believe in the doctrine that to the victor belongs the spoils; but I think even less of the doctrine that the spoils shall be divided without a fight by the personal politicians on both sides; and this would be the result of permitting the bill in its present shape to become a law."

Should Be Competitive, He Says.

In view of the temporary character of the work, it would be well to waive the requirements of the civil service law as regards geographical apportionment, but the appointments should be chosen by competitive examination from the lists provided by the civil service commission.

The non-competitive examination in a case like this is not only vicious, but is in effect a fraud upon the public.

"I also recommend that if provision is made that the census printing work may be done outside the government printing office, it shall be explicitly provided that the government authorities shall see that the eight-hour law is applied in effective fashion to those outside offices."

FLEET ON THE HOME RUN THE BIGGEST WARSHIP

BATTLESHIPS WEIGH ANCHOR AND LEAVE GIBRALTAR.

Stars and Stripes of United States Will Be Next Flag the Jackie Will Look On.

Gibraltar, Feb. 7.—With a booming farewell from the guns of a dozen foreign ships, the American battleship fleet sailed for home today. It has been "sailing for home" ever since the ships turned their bows from the Orient, but as long as there were intervening stops and ports of call, the sailors hardly considered themselves home-bound.

The next land they will see will be their own soil and the next flag the Stars and Stripes. The ships weighed anchor at 9 o'clock, though they remained with steam up for several hours before sailing.

The home voyage probably will be made at reduced speed of ten knots an hour, as there is no occasion for hurrying.

The vessels will not raise their homeward-bound pennants until they enter the Virginia capes.

The government's gymkhana in honor of the fleet was the most enjoyable feature of their stay here. There were smokers here last night aboard the English ship Albemarle, the Russian Slava and the American Nebraska.

The police say they will close the place unless Atkinson shows them the license. This the saloon keeper says is impossible, unless the coroner will authorize an ante-mortem autopsy on Gilloway.

STORY OF PLOT ON BROWNE IS DENIED

SPRINGFIELD LAWYER SAYS THAT "WOMAN IN BLUE" REACHED CAPITAL PENITENT.

CHICAGOANS SEEKING ALIBIS

Roger Sullivan's Constituents Attempt to Dispute Minority Leader's Accusations—Woman Borrowed Money.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—New light on the case of Ellen Christie, alias Florence Miller, "the mysterious woman in blue," who Thursday attempted to attack Lee O'Neil Browne, minority leader of the house, was shed today by Attorney C. Snigg, of this city. The woman, it develops, went to him for legal advice two weeks ago.

Attorney Snigg's story disposes of the political plot tale told by the woman, and also contradicts Mr. Browne's version of the case.

"This woman," said Attorney Snigg, "came to my office about two weeks ago. She was penniless. She told me her name was Ellen Christie, that she had relatives in Arkansas, but recently they had cast her off. She borrowed money from me with which to send a message to Little Rock."

Threatened to "Fix Browne."

"She wanted me to start something of a suit against Browne. In one breath she talked of him in an affectionate manner, in the next she expressed the greatest hatred for him, threatening to 'fix him' before she left town."

"She said she had known him for some time. She claimed that on one occasion Browne knocked her down. I told her that if he had beaten her she might have grounds for a damage suit in the circuit court. She seemed adverse to notoriety."

Of such great importance has this scandal become that a legislative investigation is attached to the fact that the woman said the plot was hatched in the Sherman house.

The Roger Sullivan Democrats of Chicago seem to appreciate the cloud cast over their names and the name of their headquarters by the disclosure of the minority leader that Florence Miller came shrieking to the capital, demanding his life because he had put her up to it. They give the public credit for knowing that it would be to their advantage if some such untoward action were to happen to Browne, and they realize the difficulty in the way of demonstrating that the sensational coincidence, so to speak, is an unfortunate coincidence, so to speak.

As is the rule in the jail on Friday night prisoners, one by one, were taking a bath and when it came Wolfe's turn, he made a break for the back door, which happened to be unlocked, and he escaped. Instantly he fled into the darkness. Instantly a hue and cry was raised and in a short time a large posse was formed and in pursuit. It is believed Wolfe has taken to the Osage hills.

THOUSANDS HUNT SLAYER OF GIRL

CITIZENS JOIN POLICE SEARCH AFTER SIXTH DAYTON ATTACK AND MURDER.

AFRAID TO GO TO CHURCH

Only Five Unescorted Women Attend Prayer After Ghastly Discovery in Cistern—Other Outrages Reported.

Dayton, O., Feb. 7.—All that a police force, urged on by cursing men and weeping women and aided by several thousand amateur detectives, can accomplish is being done to find the man who murdered Elizabeth Fulhart, the sixth and last on the list of Dayton women attacked and slain.

Since the body of this 18-year-old girl was found late Friday afternoon, feet up in the cistern of a vacant house in the heart of the city with the head enclosed in a bag, Dayton has talked of nothing else.

The terror that fills every home must be seen to be appreciated. Last Thursday night, two weeks ago, after Mary Forechner's body was found, the total attendance of unescorted women at Dayton prayer meetings was just five.

Women Fear Human Scourge.

If prayer meetings were now held not an unescorted woman would be there, and those who came with brothers, husbands and sweethearts would be there to pray for deliverance from the human scourge that has killed with unspeakable brutality six young girls in the last two years.

While on account of the decomposed condition of the Fulhart girl's body, the coroner has not yet been able to determine whether she met the fate of the other victims. Every indication points to the same kind of crime.

While the police arrested a friend of the girl, no one believes him guilty, and he probably will be released.

Friend First Strips Victim.

From the fact that the body was without underclothes, it is supposed that the fiend who committed the murder first stripped his victim and, before dumping the body into the cistern, hastily restored the outer garments.

The coroner has not yet decided how the girl met death. It is quite possible that the bag was thrown into the water while still alive.

The Murray Ledger

O. J. JENNINGS, Editor and Owner.

Entered at the postoffice at Murray, Ky., as second-class matter, March 1, 1904.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Circuit Judge.

We are authorized to announce Hon. John C. Duffey, of Hopkinsville, as a candidate for Judge of the Third Judicial District, composed of the counties of Calloway, Christian, Lyon and Trigg.

DO WE NEED ONE?

There has been considerable talk on the streets the past few weeks regarding the opening of an independent loose leaf warehouse in Murray. Mr. Barnett, a tobaccoist of Hopkinsville, has been in our city with a view of opening such a place, and it has so been said that a petition was circulated asking that the loose leaf warehouse be established. The Ledger considers that it would be wisdom to investigate the value of such a market in advance, and for the information of the public reproduce the following from the last issue of the Benton Tribune-Democrat:

"We are reliably informed that Mr. Amos Hunt, who lives in McCracken county, near the Ballard county line, carried his crop of tobacco to Bohmer's loose leaf warehouse, at Paducah, where it was sold to the highest bidder, but Mr. Hunt rejected the sale, reloaded his tobacco, carried it to M. M. Tucker, who is an association prizor, and who valued the tobacco at $8.00, $6.00 and $4.00, advanced him 60 per cent on this valuation, which only lacked $5 of netting him as much money as he would have received for the crop, if he had let his tobacco go at the price bid for it at the loose leaf sale. Is there any need of comment on this transaction? A great many people have to be shown, and a few lessons like this will teach the tobacco growers what to do for their own interests."

Other papers of Western Kentucky report that the sales made at the loose leaf warehouses at different places have been very unsatisfactory as a whole. Many farmers who place their tobacco in these sales places find that they are only able to sell his better grades while low grades and lugs are thrown back upon him and he is soon compelled to sell these low grades at prices below production.

Fully 90 per cent. of Calloway's crops is pledged to the association and we do not believe that the establishment of a loose leaf warehouse in Murray would be welcomed by the people of the county and would be of even small benefit to the tobacco growers who are not members of the association.

In addition to the facts set out above the cost of selling loose is more than treble the cost of selling through the association. Every association member can realize 60 per cent. on his tobacco when delivered to the prize, which is in many instances equal to the full amount he could realize if sold independently, and then he has the satisfaction of knowing that he is not a violator of a contract and is master of the product of his own sweat and toil.

The success of the association is not a matter of speculation, it has been demonstrated. The prices received the past four years for tobacco is the evidence, and even the producer who has not assisted in maintaining these high prices by pledging his crop, has been a beneficiary.

The Fulton Commercial voices our feeling when it says:

"Over four years ago the farmers of this country were the victims of a great monopoly as ever oppressed a people. They determined to free themselves from this yoke of bondage. They organized the Dark Tobacco Planters' Protective Association. They suffered privation and hardships while engaged in the work of organization. But they persevered and finally created the most beneficial industrial institution that ever blessed the toil of men. All classes of people, that worked for a living, applauded and favored the Farmers Union, because all classes of people and all branches of business were benefitted by it. It brought hope and good cheer to many a home that had hitherto borne the burden and sadness of poverty. It poured millions of dollars into the channels of trade, that had before gone into the pockets of the servants of monopoly making them rich beyond the dreams of avarice. Towns, cities and communities all over the tobacco growing regions of Kentucky and Tennessee rejoiced in the added prosperity and life brought about by the tobacco growers' organization. All the people were interested in the formation of the tobacco growers' union. THEN. All are interested in its perpetuation NOW. There is just as great necessity for its perpetuation as there was for its formation. We call upon all the people, not only farmers, but merchants, business men, mechanics, professional men, and even the women and children, to advocate and insist on keeping up and preserving the Tobacco Growers' Association. We say this, because as a newspaper devoted to the interests of the people, we believe the Association is one of the things that stands at the very base of prosperity. And we believe further that, if suffered to go down, our community will see industrial conditions arise that will be disastrous. Remember this is the age of trusts and monopolies and you cannot escape them, unless you UNITE FOR SELF-PROTECTION AND STAY UNITED."

Every endeavor to entice the association farmer to sell his crop independently is aimed as a stumbling block to the organization and a loose leaf warehouse is correctly classed as one of the endeavors to tear down and destroy one of the greatest institutions ever known to the tobacco producers.

The Mayfield Messenger states that a suit has been filed in Graves county court by T. J. Miles against the tobacco association. Miles alleges that the association is due him about $850 salary as grader. The fact of the business is Miles has been "punk wood" the association has been carrying and the quicker the organization disgorges itself of Miles and all of his kind the sooner harmony and good feeling will prevail in the ranks.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR

A Good Stomach. This Offer Should Be a Warning to Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable.

His misfortune serves as a warning to others. Everyone who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices. There is one element missing. The absence of this destroys the function of the gastric fluids. They lose their power to digest food.

We are now able to supply the missing element—to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to make the stomach strong and well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will positively and permanently cure disordered stomachs, indigestion and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.

Price, 25 cents. Only at our store, or by mail.—Dale & Stubblefield, Murray, Ky.

The Secret Of Long Life.

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans had proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, imparts life and tone to the entire system. I was a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. My life had been a struggle. I had been months in bed. I was cured by W. M. Sherman, Rushing Me, but Electric Bitters cured me entirely. Only 50c at H. D. Thornton & Co.

Vanceleave, Ky.

Health is very good. Grandma Griffin has been laid up with rheumatism, but is better at this writing. No deaths or marriages to report.

Burtram Brelsford left last 4th Sunday for Huntingdon, where he is going to attend school. He will teach the Dexter school this fall.

Add Munhundo, Will Tinsley, Smurtrie Overbey have returned from Texas after a two weeks stay. They report a nice time.

Bob Taylor, of Almo, has bought the Add Munhundo farm. Look out, girls, I guess he will want a wife next.

Pierce Holland is preparing for another large tobacco crop. He has got three large plant beds burned and says he is not done burning yet.

Uncle Jimmie Vanceleave says this fine weather makes him feel like he wanted to go to work.

Worn Out

That's the way you feel about the lungs when you have a hacking cough. It's foolishness to let it go on and trust to luck to get over it, when Ballard's Horehound Syrup will stop the cough and heal the lungs. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Dale & Stubblefield and H. D. Thornton.

SIMPLE RECIPE

Druggists Here in Town Can Supply the Ingredients or Make Up the Mixture.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered as the most certain prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictions may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home, when asked, stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as harmless.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Murray People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously.

But nature always warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—If there are settlings and sediment.

Passages frequent, scanty, painful.

It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in Murray.

Geo. Aycock, contractor, Murray, Ky., says: "For two years my kidneys were disordered, the secretions containing a sediment and being too frequent in passage. I was annoyed by headaches, dizzy spells and a blurring of the eyesight and when I arose in the morning, I felt languid and tired. It was finally my good fortune to learn of Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box at Dale & Stubblefield's drug store, receiving great relief in a short time. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Ask Yourself the Question.

Why not use Chamberlain's Liniment when you have rheumatism? We feel sure that the result will be prompt and satisfactory. One application relieves the pain, and makes sleep and rest possible. It has cured others, why not you? Try it. It costs but a trifle. Trye, 25 cents large 50 cents. For sale by Dale & Stubblefield.

Horse coughs and stuffy colds that may develop into pneumonia over night are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, and it soothes inflamed membranes, heals the lungs, and expels the cold from the system. Sold by all druggists.

S.S.S. CURES RHEUMATISM

Every case of Rheumatism has its origin and its development in the blood. It is not a disease which is contracted like a cold, but it is in the blood and system before a pain is felt, and the changes in the blood or any physical irregularities, such as a spell of indigestion, bowel disturbance, etc., are merely the exciting causes producing the pains and aches, which are the natural symptoms of the disease. Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid and other corrosive, irritative, poisons in the blood, which are carried through the circulation to every part of the system. Every muscle, nerve, membrane, tissue and joint becomes saturated with these acid, irritating impurities, or coated with fine, insoluble caustic matter, and the sharp, piercing pains or the dull, constant aches are felt with every physical movement. When the blood is filled with uric acid poison, permanent relief cannot be expected from liniments, plasters, or other external treatment. Such measures give temporary relief, but in order to conquer Rheumatism and bring about a complete cure, the uric acid and other inflammatory matter must be expelled, and this cannot be done with external treatment. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it is a perfect and entirely vegetable blood purifier. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the acids, and dissolves the irritating deposits which are pressing on the sensitive nerves and tissues and producing pain, removes the weak, sour blood, and enriches every atom of impurity from the circulation. So instead of being a weak, sour stream, distributing uric acid to the different parts of the system, the blood is strong and healthy and therefore able to supply every muscle, nerve, bone and tissue with nourishment and strength. Then the inflammation and swelling subside, the pains and aches cease, and not only is the entire general health benefited and built up. In all forms of Rheumatism, whether acute or chronic, S. S. S. will be found a safe and reliable treatment. Special book on Rheumatism and any medical advice you desire will be furnished free.

First Hoghead New Crop.

Salesman John J. Jones last week sold the first hoghead of the 1908 crop of tobacco, J. D. Rowlett, the well known manufacturer, being the purchaser. The tobacco was grown by Bud Hopper, an east side farmer, and brought $9.50. The tobacco was prized by T. E. Cochran & Co., who now have about 20 hogheads on the market ready for sale.

Salesman Hood, who still has charge of the remainder of the 1907 crop, reports the sale of 152 hogheads since our report last week, at prices ranging from $5 to $5.50 for lugs and $7 to $9 for leaf. Mr. Hood reports that there yet remains only about 600 hogheads of the old crop and he is expecting to close out the 1907 crop as rapidly as possible.

Placed Under Bond.

Bob Kelley, who was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Dick Hughes for misappropriating property, was given a preliminary hearing Monday before Judge Patterson and bound over to circuit court under a $250 bond.

The arrest of Kelley grew out of a horse trade made the last fourth Monday.

Hughes charges that Kelley bantered him for a trade but because of an exchange of animals occurred Hughes backed out, whereupon Kelley placed the money difference in Hughes buggy, mounted the animal and rode off. A warrant was secured for Kelley and he left and went to Tennessee.

Hughes has also filed suit for damages.

Resolutions.

Memorial resolutions adopted by Cypress camp, No. 216, W. O. W., New Concord, Ky., on the life and death of Sov. Hansford C. Smith, of which camp he was a true devoted member.

WHEREAS, in the Providence of God, death has been permitted to enter our camp and take from us our Bro. and Sov. H. C. Smith, who was a devoted and faithful member, therefore be it,

RESOLVED, That we the committee of said camp do hereby bear testimony to the fact that in the death of Sov. Smith the neighborhood has lost one of its truest and best citizens, the camp a devoted and loyal member and the home a kind and loyal husband. As a friend no sacrifice was too great for him to make, provided the cause of his fellow man was worthy of his support. As a citizen he always espoused to the cause he believed to be right. As a christian Sov. Smith was firm and steadfast to the truth of the Bible and especially was he drawn very close to his Savior during the last days of his illness, expressing repeatedly great comfort drawn from the promise of God. Be it further

RESOLVED, That we hereby tender to the bereaved wife and sorrowing ones, our deepest sympathy in this hour of grief in their home and we commend them to the good shepherd who said, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee, my presence shall go with thee," and who has promised that all things shall work together for good to them that love God. Be it further,

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the bereaved family, a copy furnished the Ledger and a copy spread on the minutes of our camp.

The Story of a Medicine.

To name "Golden Medical Discovery" was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots, their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery" for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have received the highest endorsement from the leading scientific authorities, chemists and physicians. A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering or hanging coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. It will cure the affections that lead up to consumption, if taken in time.

CUPID.

THEY were the neatest ladies on the entire street. Miss Lucinda Berry and her sister Alice, and they subsisted meagerly on a small pension that had been their late father's. In the same block lived the richest, stoutheast and most irritable bachelor in the city.

In February when an unexpected mildness set in, Miss Alice turned the hose on her sidewalk to wash away the ashes. All night long, however, the wind rose, and the fourteenth of February dawned bitter cold, and the water used for washing off the ashes froze.

Miss Lucinda was in the kitchen sifting ashes to resprinkle the pavement, when she heard her sister shriek. Lucinda rushed to open the front door, and saw Alice on her knees in the street, supporting the husky shoulders of Williams, who was shouting lustily: "This is your work! Nice, isn't it? Always knew your confounded neatness would cost me my life."

Alice could only sob in reply. "I'll see you for this, all right," he howled.

By this time Lucinda had approached, and now spoke authoritatively: "Well, it is plain you must be carried into your house and a doctor sent for at once!"

Reckoning to the bachelor's man servant, who hovered near, she instructed him how to assist the injured man without causing unnecessary pain.

When Williams had been laid on a disordered bed, Miss Lucinda made him as comfortable as possible before the arrival of the doctor. The Berry girls set to work preparing bandages. The doctor came, set the arm, expressed approval of all that had been done, and left.

Williams heard this commendation of the maiden sisters, and after some thought said:

"If you bring me through without crippling me, I will let you off as light as possible."

This unexpected generosity overjoyed the ladies. They took their regular turns, and the negro servant rode the day when they invaded his slouchy kingdom. Though the injured bachelor could not know of all the changes taking place, still he felt the influence of orderly domesticity.

They really enjoyed the nursing, and their patient particularly appreciated having Miss Alice near, for her touch was delightfully soft. So, even when the physician came, it was Miss Alice who bandaged the arm after it was dressed.

When able to be around again it was difficult to break an acquired habit, so it happened that Mr. Williams went over morning and evening for Miss Alice to attend to his arm.

One morning he did not come. Instead the servant appeared with a note for Miss Alice, who read it with alarm.

"I shall call this evening to see for my damages. If it is not rendered me, I am afraid I must proceed to extreme measures."

Miss Alice cried the better part of the day after the receipt of the note, and Miss Lucinda for once was not practical, so cried some also.

At seven that evening the door bell rang and Miss Lucinda admitted Mr. Williams and showed him into the parlor where Alice sat, openly tearful.

"Take a seat," she whispered.

He sat down facing her, and took her limp hand.

"Here, my soul," he cried, "what's the matter?"

"Nothing," she exclaimed, and burst into sobs.

"I wish you'd cry for me," said the bachelor huskily.

"Oh," she moaned, "we can't pay those damages, Mr. Williams."

"Well, if you can't," said he, "can you do something else? Can you accept the worn-out old valentine that was thrown at your gate about a month ago? Not worth picking up, perhaps, old-fashioned and full of flaws, but a most loving valentine."

With her cheek against the bandaged arm, Miss Alice cried some more—but there were smiles shining through.

The Saint's Day in Scotland

It seems to have been a custom in Scotland to choose one's valentine, if Sir Walter Scott is to be trusted in his account of the wedding of the Fair Maid of Perth and Hal of the Wynd in the novel. The always amusing and ubiquitous Peppy, in his diary, which neglects nothing under the sun apparently, mentions St. Valentine's day and its customs in several places, and gives an amusing account of his wife, feasting to open her eyes on St. Valentine's day while the painters and decorators were at work in her room, lest she should see one of those unsuitable persons first instead of a more comely valentine.

Whatever the origin of the custom, it has given rise to many quaint and pretty fancies, and both poets and lovers have employed the legend and the saint to good purpose. The send-

DESERVED TO GET THE JOB

Anyone Acquainted with Boys Will Assert That Applicant Told the Truth.

Once upon a time there was a boy and he applied for a job.

"We don't want lazy boys here. Are you fond of work?" asked the boss.

"No, sir," answered the boy, looking the boss straight in the face.

"Oh, you're not, aren't you? Well, we want a boy that is," insisted the boss, doggedly.

"Oh, yes, there are! We have had a dozen of that kind here this morning looking for a situation with us."

"How do you know they are not lazy?" persisted the boy.

"Why, they told me so," said the boss.

"So could I have told you so, but I'm not a liar."

And he got the job.

NEW SANITARY DOORMAT.

"Sanitary doormat—the latest thing," said a salesman in a surgical shop.

The shoes are the worst germ carriers there are. If we gather germs on our hands, millions of times more do our shoes gather them. Now the Chinks and Japs do the right thing by leaving their shoes outside, but since we have no such custom, we ought to have instead a sanitary mat on the front step.

"The mat is filled, you see, with germ-killers. Every time you wipe your feet on it, a generation of germs is destroyed, and you enter the house a walking pestilence no longer."

SWALLOWS BEAT PIGEONS.

Swallows can be trained to rival carrier pigeons as messengers. An Antwerp trainer of pigeons sent up some pigeons and swallows at the same time from Compiegne, in France, 145 miles off. The swallows arrived at home in one hour and seven minutes. The pigeons took rather more than three times as long. On another occasion two swallows, which had been previously trained, were taken to Paris and started. They arrived at their home, Roubaix, 93 miles from Paris, in 75 minutes.

BLOOZES AND BLOUSES.

"Where will I find the bloozes?" asked the woman who had just returned from London.

"De bloozes?" exclaimed the elevator man, staring pop-eyed and vague.

"De bloozes—w-y, dey mus be on de—Sense me, madam, you'd better ask de floorwalker."

"Certainly madam, second floor James, take the lady to the second floor—bloozes—lavngery waists, y'know."

DISPUTING HIS CLAIM.

The fat man was spread out all over two seats when the woman sat down by him.

"Couldn't you move over just a little bit?" she asked him, pleasantly.

"No," he snapped, "I paid for this seat."

"Yes, I know," she said, quietly, "but you didn't pay for two, did you?"

THEORY OF HARMONY.

Mrs. Cochran of New York says that she has invented a "cryptogram" by which she can bring health and happiness and whatever else may be desired by changing the name to suit the date of birth. According to her theory, days of the month are lucky that correspond with the date of birth or some multiple of it.

A REMINDER.

"You were south, weren't you?"

"Yes. And it was so interesting watching the peasant women carrying around great heavy jars on their heads."

"Yes. They are almost as strong as some of the New York women carrying their hair."

HIS QUALIFICATIONS.

"It is true," began the aged snitter, "that I'm considerably older than you, but a man is as young as he feels, you know, and—"

"Oh," interrupted the maiden, "that doesn't matter. What I want to know is if you are as rich as you look."

CORE THING.

"Do you, Mrs. Putter will marry a man?"

"Inside of a year, I have never seen a man so inconsiderable over the loss of a wife."—Life.

THE LAND OF SILENCE

By DAVID WOODRUFF

Perhaps you have been in Georgetown; if you have, it is a place you will always remember. Nestled in a bowl-shaped valley of the Rockies, the little town lies, sheltered by those mighty mountain walls which have silently watched the ages come and go.

Great is the army of toilers that has marched in review before those sentinel hills, and many a monument has been cut from their weather-beaten ridges to mark the resting place of heroes who have gone. But somewhere, forgotten in that mighty wall of rock, rest the ashes of one whom Georgetown will long remember.

It was in the early days of the little mining town—days when the lure of wealth drew men away from the cities into the mountain fastnesses—and the village of a few log cabins began to grow and spread across the valley. It was in these days that Georgetown first heard the name of Archibald Hudson.

Tall and powerful, with shaggy beard and brows, he appeared to the curious loafers at the depot like a lion from his native plain. Men looked at him and wondered. Two hours later they looked at each other and wondered more.

A quarrel had been started in the saloon, and when the smoke had cleared away, a few startled natives who looked on from a safe distance saw the new-comer standing grimly over a huddle of silent forms that had been men. There was talk of a lynching, but men looked on the stranger and thought better of it, so Rayner became boss of the town.

In the mines he took the most daring risks, but always without a mishap, and the long tunnels ate their way steadily into the hills, wresting the wealth of the earth from the grip of the mighty rock.

Rayner became a man to be respected, with a respect born of dread. Men were cautious of him—all but one man. Little Jack Hudson from Missouri had somehow become a fast friend of the giant. Again men wondered and shook their heads, but Hudson lived on.

The two were standing at the mouth of the tunnel one evening, watching the stars as they came stealing into the clear blue sky. Hudson smoked meditatively—his eyes fixed on the clear heavens above him.

"'Tis a good world," he said, at length, "a good world."

The huge miner glanced up at the stars and nodded.

"Why?" he asked, quietly, knocking the bowl of his pipe against a grimy palm.

Hudson stared curiously at his friend. "Why?" he asked. "Well, why not?"

The miner straightened himself up with a jerk, and his glance flashed sternly into the other's eyes.

"Why?" he repeated, scornfully. "Why? Say, man, are you blind?"

Hudson's pipe dropped from his lips and he stared open-mouthed.

"You say," went on Rayner, sternly, "'tis a good world. Do you know what you're saying? Look out into that sky there. What do you see? Emptiness! Listen! What do you hear? Silence! The silence of ages past, the silence of men who are gone—where? Look ahead, and what? The silence out of which the unborn generations come—into which you and I go. A good world! Say, Jack, you're a fool!"

He scratched a match noisily, lit his pipe and started down the path toward the town. Hudson followed, amazed at the sudden outburst. Silently they followed the winding path downward.

On nearing the foot of the path Rayner halted on a narrow ledge, overlooking the bustling little town below. Hudson paused beside him and noted that the big man was listening intently. It was Friday evening and there was a service in the little church.

Softly out of the quaint night the words of song arose, and Hudson heard the man beside him catch his breath.

"Keep Thine eye; I do not ask to see."

The distant scene; one step enough for me."

"My mother used to sing that, back east, once," said the miner, and Hudson noticed that his voice trembled a little. "I wish I could," he continued. "Come," and they hurried downward into the town.

The work in the mine went forward next day, with its usual roar of machinery and shriek of drills. The ore cars were loaded, hurried away, and returned empty for reloading. Men were toiling and sweating, and always the shaft was gnawing its way into the heart of the rocky rock.

Suddenly the din ceased, the drills were withdrawn and Rayner began ramming the sticks of dynamite into the smooth, round holes, while the rest of the men sauntered slowly back along the shaft. Jack Hudson alone remained to assist him in the tamping and setting of fuses. This done, the fuses were lighted, and the two men turned toward the entrance of the shaft.

"Say, Archie, that timbering there don't look very good to me," remarked Hudson, pointing to a place in the tunnel ahead where the timbers were sagging menacingly.

"Some day there's going to be—"

A sudden crash drowned the rest of the sentence, and the incandescent lights went out, plunging the shaft in darkness. Hudson uttered an exclamation of horror.

"Archie," he cried, "the roof's caved in and there's that blast lighted!"

Rayner pulled a small flash light from his pocket and swept the walls of the shaft.

"Here, Jack, quick!" he shouted. "Get behind that bit of ledge," and he shoved his companion violently behind a projecting ridge of rock.

It's only large enough for one, but if the blast goes off it may save you. I'm going to try and cut that fuse."

"But you?" gasped Hudson.

"What's to save you from that flying rock?"

"Nothing," the big man called back, as he sprang forward into the darkness and dashed toward the lighted blast.

Numb with horror, Hudson watched the little spark of light as it darted up to the end of the shaft, halted and sought out the fuses. Then the stern, powerful voice of Rayner rang through the sepulchral silence.

"Too late, Jack, it's burned into the rock. Good-by. Tell the boys—"

There was a blinding flash, a thunderous roar that seemed to shake the very foundations of the earth, and then darkness.

Several hours later the rescuing party broke through the mass of earth and timber that had imprisoned the two miners. Hudson, though badly shaken up, was alive and conscious, but a trace of his companion could be found. Solemnly they carried the surviving man out into the sunlight and laid him down upon the grass.

His glance, in a dazed sort of way, took in the little group of men, the blue sky above, and then turned toward the mouth of the shaft.

"Where's Archie?" he asked, laboriously.

Bill Donovan, the foreman, wiped his eyes on his bandana.

"He's gone, Jack," said he gently. "He must have got caught in the blast."

"And he made me take the only safe place. He did it to save me," murmured the injured man. "Pace Archie."

For Hudson knew that the big man had passed from the world of the living and had entered the Land of Silence.

HE ALMOST REMEMBERED IT.

Boy at Least Had Combination Somewhere Near Right.

Donald had returned from a visit to the country, and was full of reminiscences of persons and things that had interested him. "I met a boy, mamma," he said, "that had the queerest name I ever heard. He said his folks found it in the Old Testament. It was—it was—let me see—yes, it was Father William, or William Father. I've forgotten just now which. But it was one or the other."

"But, Donald," said his mother, "there is no such name as Father William or William Father in the Old Testament."

"Are you sure, mamma?"

"I certainly am, dear. I have read it through several times. It isn't a comparatively modern name. It isn't anywhere in the Bible."

"Well, but—oh, I remember now!" exclaimed Donald. "It was William's Youth's Companion."

CHILD HAD SIXTY BOILS.

Troubles Cured by Cuticura.

"When my little Vivian was about six months old her head broke out in boils. She had about sixty in all, and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her entirely. Some time later a humor broke out behind her ears and spread up on to her head until it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a red, fiery red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every spring. I always used Cuticura Soap and Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out it became so bad that I was discouraged. But I continued the use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent until she was well and has never been troubled in the last two years. Mrs. M. A. After the dry goods salesman had completed his business with Cyrus Craig, Centerville's storekeeper, he asked what was going on in the town. "Had any entertainments this winter?" he inquired.

"No," said Mr. Craig, "not one. Salome Howe's pupils have given two concerts, piano and organ, and the principal of the academy has lectured twice, once on 'Our National Forests' and once on 'Stones As I Know Them,' but as far as entertainments are concerned, Centerville hasn't got round to 'em yet."—Youth's Companion.

Criminality of Waste.

If I wanted to train a child to be thrifty I should teach him to abhor waste. I do not mean waste of money; that comes itself, because very soon there is no money to waste—but waste of material, waste of something that is useful but that you cannot represent in money value to the winter. There is waste of water, waste of gas and things of that kind. If you could wish your children to be thrifty I would beg to impress upon them the criminality of waste.—Lord Rensselaer in an Edinburgh Address.

NO MEDICINE

But a Change of Food Gave Relief.

Many persons are learning that drugs are not the thing to rebuild worn out nerves, but proper food is required.

There is a certain element in the cereals, wheat, barley, etc., which is grown there by nature for food to brain and nerve tissue. This is the phosphate of potash, of which Grape-Nuts food contains a large proportion.

In making this food all the food elements in the two cereals, wheat and barley, are retained. That is why so many heretofore nervous and run down people find in Grape-Nuts a true nerve and brain food.

"I can say that Grape-Nuts food has done much for me as a nerve renewer," writes a Wis. bride.

"A few years ago, before my marriage, I was a bookkeeper in a large firm. I became so nervous toward the end of each week that it seemed I must give up my position, which I could not afford to do."

"Mother purchased some Grape-Nuts and we found it not only delicious but I noticed from day to day that I was improving until I finally realized I was not nervous any more."

"I have recommended it to friends as a brain and nerve food, never having found its equal. I owe much to Grape-Nuts as it saved me from a nervous collapse, and enabled me to retain my position."

TESTIMONIAL

Mr. Freeman Rodgers who lives 5 miles N. E. of Murray is a farmer and stock raiser of considerable experience. Listen what he says about Rawleigh's stock food: "I have been a farmer all my life and have taken a great interest in stock raising in which I have been reasonably successful. I have always tried to get the most out of my stock at the least possible expense. To do this it is necessary to use some kind of a conditioner or stock food. I have used a great many different brands of stock food, but after feeding 100 lbs. of Rawleighs Medicated stock food I am free to confess it is the best I ever fed. I find it pays to feed it to growing colts, I find young mules will do as well on 3 or 4 ears of corn with stock food as they will do on 5 or 6 without stock food."

I Have The Fastest Pacing Stallion in Calloway County

and I only feed him 3 ears of corn at a feed with Rawleighs stock food and he keeps in good flesh and full of life. I feed Rawleighs stock food to my jack and I find he is more sure to fold. If all stock raisers would use Rawleighs stock food before breeding they would be more sure of a fold. It is just as needful to tone your mare's system before breeding as it is to prepare your land before planting a crop. I am never hasty in recommending any kind of preparation but after giving Rawleighs stock food a thorough trial I have written this testimonial and desire to have you publish it for the benefit of stock raisers. Hoping every man will look to his own interest in stock raising with full confidence that all who use Rawleighs stock food will find it as I have, an added profit rather than an added expense."

Respectfully yours,

The farmers are about through burning plant beds in this section.

The Carter and Flippo girls, of Lynn Grove, come to T. R. Cooper's Tuesday night and entertained them with their music. All report a nice time.

We think there will be a wedding soon. Roy Hurt says he has got two in the notion, him and the preacher.

Pat Stone thinks he is a pistol since he has moved to Coldwater.

Uncle Tom Broach is going into the poultry business.

Edgar Broach will work uncle Sam Kelley's farm this season.

Frank Radford has quit school. He will try the farm this year.

Edgar Mayfield has a pig gone with a white spot on the side next to the fence and its tail about as long as a rope.

Marvin Broach is still hauling lumber. I guess he is going to build a house.

Dick Hughes has hired to John Hurt this year.

Tom's family is no better. Old man Tom stayed up five nights straight as professional nurse, singing Ben Bolt.

J. A. Radford and wife visited John Smotherman and family Saturday night.

Luck to the Ledger and its many readers.

INDIGESTION

Misery from Your Disordered Stomach Goes in Five Minutes.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of a case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will occasionally take a little Diapiesin after eating.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Bilio-ness, Heartburn, Waterbrash Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapiesin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. Each triangle will digest all the food you can eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from your druggist and start taking today and by tomorrow you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

In Memory.

Pleasant H. Forrest was born Feb. 2, 1838 and died Nov. 20, 1908. His death removes one of the most familiar faces. For 70 years he has lived almost in sight of his birthplace.

He was a descendant of some of the most noted farmer families of West Kentucky, to-wit: The Hensleys, Forrests, Smiths, Pools and others, who have filled many places of trust and are still honored for their courage and moral character.

Uncle Pleas, as he was familiarly called, was twice married. Both wives have already passed over the dark river. He leaves three sons and one daughter: Alex, Joe, Dow and Mrs. Missouri Neal.

He was a true friend to his friends, being at all times ready to answer the call of duty to any cause that was worthy.

He was an honored confederate veteran who, after the war cloud of the sixties was cleared up, came back among those who were most dear to him and spent his life. To know him was to love him, but we shall see him no more.

May he rest in peace with loved ones already gone before.

The Facts About Pe-ru-na.

Is Peruna an alcoholic beverage in disguise? Is it possible to use Peruna as a substitute for whiskey? Do people buy Peruna and use it as a toddy or a bitters, or a bracer?

It would be the easiest thing in the world for any one to demonstrate the falsity of such statements. Let any one go to the drug store and purchase a bottle of Peruna. Let him undertake to use it as a beverage, or take this remedy in doses considerably larger than those prescribed on the bottle. Would the result be alcoholic intoxication? Nothing of the sort. Let any one try it and see.

Peruna is a medical compound quite heavily loaded with medicinal ingredients. If taken in doses larger than prescribed it would produce a positive drug effect. No one could take it as a beverage. If any one doubts these statements, try it and see. We know that Peruna cannot be used as a substitute for liquors. We guarantee that PERUNA CONTAINS NO CHEAP WHISKEY—OR ANY OTHER WHISKEY, for that matter.

It contains a small per cent of cologne spirits, absolutely essential to dissolve and hold in solution medicinal ingredients, but the drugs contained in Peruna prohibit its use as a beverage. It would be the easiest thing in the world for any one to demonstrate this if they chose to do so.

Peruna is sold everywhere. THE INGREDIENTS ARE PLAINLY PRINTED ON EACH BOTTLE. It has been said over and over again that chemists have analyzed Peruna and found it to contain only cubeb and whiskey. Now we challenge any chemist to demonstrate any such statement. Let any one who has even a smattering knowledge of chemistry purchase a bottle of Peruna and see whether or not it contains whiskey, find out for himself whether or not it is composed of cheap whiskey and cubeb. Of course, cubeb is one of the ingredients of Peruna, but there are many other ingredients. It contains hydrastis canadensis, corydalis formosa, collinsonia, and at least four other medicinal ingredients. To be sure, no chemist could so analyze Peruna as to be able to identify the various medicinal ingredients. This is beyond the ability of any chemist. But any ordinary chemist would be able to say that Peruna is heavily loaded with medicinal ingredients of some kind in addition to cubeb.

Now why are these statements repeated when their falsity could be so easily demonstrated? Simply because there is continued hostility toward Peruna on the part of the medical profession. Very likely the magazines which took up the crusade against Peruna and denounced it as a cheap beverage were misled by statements of the medical profession. Probably they were sincere in their attitude towards it. But now, after all these things have been said and refuted, it would seem to be in order for such people to use a little fairness and common sense in the matter.

Every time any one says that Peruna is nothing but cheap whiskey and cubeb he is telling a lie, an absolute falsehood. Most people intend to speak the truth. But the prevalent habit of repeating other people's statements, without investigation as to their truth, has led many well-meaning people to say these false things about Peruna.

Used according to the directions on the bottle, PERUNA IS A SAFE AND RELIABLE CATARRH REMEDY, but, like any other good medicine, if taken in excess of those doses, it will produce drug effects very unpleasant to the person who takes it.

It is therefore up to every honest person to quit making such statements concerning Peruna, or acknowledge that he is repeating slanders about which he knows nothing. One might just as well say that Castor Oil is an intoxicant; that if taken in large enough doses it will operate as a "booze." If people never tried to see, but simply repeated such statements about Castor Oil, the majority of people would come to believe them. It is no easier to demonstrate such a statement about Castor Oil than it would be about Peruna.

Any one who takes Peruna knows that such statements are false. To say that Peruna is cheap whiskey and cubeb may constitute good material for jokes on the vaudeville stage, but there is no excuse for any one who pretends to be truthful saying over again this oft-repeated falsehood.

Memoriam.

Maurice Raymond Moody was born January 1, 1905, died Dec. 12, 1908, aged 3 years, 11 months and 10 days. God blessed the parents and home with a lovely bud that was too good and pure to blossom on earth, but has called the little one to bloom in Heaven. He suffered for five long months, but why we cannot tell. But God in his infinite wisdom knows best. While little Maurice had no sin to suffer for it is to the good of our souls that these afflictions are put upon us to bear, and while our home here on earth is made sad and lonely by the loss of little Maurice, Heaven is made brighter; there is a light that is beckoning us onward and Heavenward and in as much as our darling cannot come to us let us live in this life so that we may go to him. Bereaved parents and loved ones, let this be our consoling thought that Maurice is at rest; there waiting and watching for us where sometimes we shall all be gathered to glory in the morning of joy.

His little bed is empty now, His little clothes laid by A mothers' hope, a fathers' joy In deaths cold arms doth lie.

Many Sleepless Nights. Owing to a Persistent Cough. Relief Found at Last

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and disagreeable cough, which invariably extended over a period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes Will J. Hayner, editor of the Berkeley, Colo., Bulletin. "Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial results. In November last the cough again put in an appearance and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The result was, indeed, marvelous. After three doses the cough entirely disappeared and has not manifested itself since." This remedy is for sale by Dale & Stubblefield.
